

BECOME A UNION STEWARD

Be the connection between your coworkers and our Union.

YOUR VOICE MATTERS.

Union Stewards are RN leaders on their units who help coworkers understand and use our contract, support nurses when workplace concerns arise, keep members connected and informed, and help build the strength we need to win improvements at the bargaining table.

WHAT DOES A UNION STEWARD DO?

- Help nurses understand and enforce our contract.
- Support coworkers when workplace concerns arise.
- Keep nurses connected, informed, and engaged.
- Help identify and address workplace issues.
- Build the strength we need to win improvements at the bargaining table.

NO EXPERIENCE REQUIRED.

Training is provided and covers:

- Reading, understanding, and using our contract
- Supporting coworkers and being an effective Union leader
- Identifying and addressing workplace issues
- Preparing now for negotiations next year

You do not need previous union experience or expert knowledge of the contract. You only need a desire to support your coworkers and help make St. Joe's a better place to work. The time commitment is less than you might think, and even small actions can make a meaningful difference.

Our Union is strongest when nurses across every unit and shift have the knowledge and confidence to stand together. Join and learn how you can be part of that strength.
